

TOWN & COUNTY NEWS.

DALLAS, SATURDAY, SEPT. 10, 1870.

RELIGIOUS.—Bishop Wrightman will occupy the pulpit in the M. E. Church to-day, at 11 o'clock; also to-morrow (Sunday), at the same hour.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The contract for building the bridge across the Luckiamute, at Helmick's, was awarded to Messrs. Blodgett & Cooper, for $1,190.

POSTER WORK.—We have received a three-sheet poster advertising the Oregon State Fair. The poster was printed at Simpson's, in Salem, and is equal to his best jobs. It is printed in three colors.

ELLENDALE GOODS.—The proprietors of the Ellendale Woollen Mills are meeting with deserved success. They have been getting out a good class of fabrics this summer, and are now receiving orders from all parts of the State. We have seen some of their beavers, made for winter wear, which we consider superior to anything heretofore produced in this State.

MILL IMPROVEMENTS.—The proprietor of the Dixie Flouring Mills is giving his machinery a thorough overhauling, as well as adding thereto. A new turbine wheel is to furnish the power. The mill has been considered as one of the best in the county. With the improvements of this summer it will be second to none in the State, as far as making a good article of flour is concerned.

CHEAP WAGONS.—Mr. Teal desires us to say that he has on hand and for sale, six two-horse wagons, one eight-hundred wagon, one thoroughbred and one light express wagon. These wagons must be sold this fall so as to allow more extended operations next year. Mr. T. has been without a good blacksmith for some time, but now has one whose forte is horse shoeing.

CHURCH COURT.—There was no civil business before the Court at this term, though the Probate business was considerable. A license to sell spirituous liquors in quantities less than one quart was granted to Wm. Cingham of Dallas, for the term of one year. Assessed, $100. J. W. Smith, ex-Sheriff, made his final settlement with the county. The contract to furnish the county with fire-wood was awarded to Jos. Liggett, at $2 75 per cord.

CONFERENCE.—The fifth session of the Columbia Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South, convened at this place on Wednesday last. Bishop W. M. Wrightman was present to preside over the Conference. Rev. J. Emery was elected Secretary, and J. W. Stall Assistant Secretary. The number of ministers in the traveling connection is 15. Four new ministers were admitted on trial at this Conference. We are unable to give any church statistics this week, as those items are not made up as we go to press.

AUGUST.—Mr. Thos. Pearce's weather record for August shows that there were 24 clear, 5 cloudy, and 2 rainy days. The rainy days were the 20th and 21st, and 8-10ths of an inch of rain fell. The wind came from the south 7 days—the days that were cloudy—and from the north the balance of the time. From the 6th to the 17th the atmosphere was so filled with smoke that the sky was obscured nearly the whole time. The mean temperature for the month was 68°; highest mean 82°, on the 3d, and lowest 57°, on the 29th. The mean temperature for August, 1859, was 61°; highest 67°, on the 10th, and lowest 52°, on the 29th. In that month we had 7 rainy days with 2.36 inches of water—20 clear and 4 cloudy days.

WHAT THE NEWS THINKS: ALMOST A CHRISTIAN.—Mr. Sullivan, of the Dallas Republican, gets off some sour views occasionally, commendatory of the principles and practices of the Radical party. He ought to be, what he comes very near being already in principle, a Democrat. I look like stultification all the way through, for a man to be sincerely opposed to Chinese and Negro suffrage, and yet claim allegiance to the universal brotherhood party.

If our views be sound, then you should come and work with us in opposing evil wherever it is found. The News admits a slight difference between us and modern Democracy, and we, in return, thank God for the variation. The News thinks it sees something like stultification in our way. This is a mistake. You know, Mr. News, that loyal men have a right to differ; and while it is true that Sumner, Trumbull and many other great minds of the Senate go the whole hog on the question of "universal brotherhood," yet Mr. Williams only goes half way, and the poorest half at that. We are honestly trying, Mr. News, to correct the evils of our own organization. The future will reveal how well we shall succeed.

W. T. Wilson, of Ohio, is on his way from England to Eugene City with a lot of Cotswold sheep, which he proposes to sell. He will probably be there early in October.

The Eugene Journal says that land in Lane county has rapidly advanced in value during the last three years and farms could have been purchased four or five years ago for $3 to $5 per acre are now selling at $15 to $20.

From the Eugene Journal of Saturday: We are informed that Surveyor General Applegate has let surveying contracts this week to Messrs. John W. Melburn, J. B. David and Newman, each for $5,000, being the largest amount which can be let to one man.

A Faithful Servant.

James O'Meara devotes nearly every leader in the daily Bulletin trying to convince the people that Ben Holladay is a great and good man. Now, Mr. Bulletin, if that be true, the people will find it out in due time, and you can dispense with your expensive institution at once.

But we call attention to the eloquent language of the editor, in one of those leaders. Here it is:

"In contrast to these men, Mr. Holladay amassed his large fortune in other portions of the Union. The attractions which Oregon offered to men of capital and of giant energy and great public spirit become known to him. Our people published to the world a warm welcome to those who would come here and embark in that class of stupendous enterprises which the State most needed to push her on to a bright destiny, and in which the wealthy men resident here had refused to embark, or were indisposed to venture upon. Attracted by these resources and cheered by these expressions of welcome, Mr. Holladay came. Speedily he perfected his plans and proceeded to the accomplishment of the grand scheme in which he embarked—that of constructing a line of railroad from Portland to connect with California and the great overland railway. Mark the consequence. All along the line of the road real estate, which a year before could have been bought for hundreds, rose to a valuation of thousands of dollars. Tracts which had been a source of trouble if not of loss to their possessors suddenly made those owners rich. Farms which had been a drag at pre-emption prices rose in value from ten to even one hundred dollars per acre."

Where is the great fortune amassed by this giant mind, and brought to Oregon to save this people from starvation? O'Meara seems to think that everybody in Oregon is situated like himself, dependent on Holladay for their bread and butter. Now, we venture the assertion that Ben Holladay has made more money on this coast than he ever expended, two to one. Let any man figure the amount made by that monopolist in freight and passengers brought to Portland alone, and he would have a larger sum than Ben has ever expended in Oregon. And why should he be paid a premium to come here and make money more than any other man? "Stupendous enterprises, in which the wealthy men of Oregon refused to embark." Isn't that brilliant? "Attracted by our resources and cheered by our expressions of welcome, he came, speedily to perfect his plans." Yes sir, and he did perfect them, by getting our West Side land grant and impoverishing the people, then purchasing our franchise of the West Side Company, to whom Congress had donated a second grant, and with an air of triumph, bid defiance to our complaints. "And his grand scheme of constructing a line of railway from Portland to California." No, Mr. O'Meara, if he did come here and perfect his scheme—to construct a road from Portland to California, why now threaten the people of Southern Oregon that, unless they vote for Williams, they shall have no railroad? Am't you overdoing the matter, Mr. Bulletin.

"Mark the consequences." Yes, Mr. Bulletin, the people of the West Side have marked the consequences to their sorrow, and it is true, as you say, that all along the line of the railroad real estate has risen from hundreds to thousands of dollars. Thus you have demonstrated, by your logic, just what we have all the time charged, that the people of the West Side have been robbed of their millions. And their farms, which ought to have been ready sale at from $20 to $100 per acre, are offered to-day for from $5 to $15 per acre, and no sale. Will the people be convinced when the Bulletin agrees with us? Robbery is stamped in living, burning capitals upon this whole railroad transaction.

In the same article we find these sickly lines applied to Ben Holladay: "As a man of unbounded energy and vast enterprise, as witnessed in several of the great operations he has successfully conducted, a goodly number from the Western tier of States have come to Oregon, solely because he has chosen the State for his last grand enterprise."

Call the Doctor, we want an emetic—quick. The idea of sensible men coming to Oregon to live just because Ben Holladay has concluded to reside here.

Query—Won't we lose more than we gain in consequence of Ben's coming.

We desire to call the attention of the Oregonian, Bulletin, Senator Williams and the few radicals of the Union Republican party in Oregon, to the fact that the Republicans of Iowa, in convention assembled, have solemnly declared in favor of striking the word "white" out of the naturalization laws, wherever occurs, and this sentiment is endorsed by the Toledo Blade. Would it not be well for you to come out very soon and take a stand with those bold and noble advocates of universal suffrage, and so keep pace with the progress of the age? It won't do to lag, gentlemen, in these great progressive days of universal suffrage. There is great danger of retrogression, gentlemen, unless you come to time, and that speedily. We insist you shall not permit this gigantic car of progress to run over you. Get out of the way or jump aboard, gentlemen; revolutions never go backward.

A writer for a leading paper published in Alabama, makes frequent use of such expressions as this: "No sacrifice of Southern honor or Southern manhood." Now, that is all wrong. Southern honor is no better than Northern honor, or the same article in the West. No man in the United States has a right to teach sectionalism. We are all American citizens together, whether we live in Oregon, Iowa, Alabama or Massachusetts. This sectionalism nearly costs us the life of this nation, and we think it is about time that our public writers and speakers should stop making such unfortunate speeches.

A plank in the Iowa Republican State platform says:

6. Resolved, That we are in favor of such legislation as will protect the people from the oppression of monopolies controlled by and in the interest of corporations.

So the OREGON REPUBLICAN is not alone in fighting monopolies, and the people of Oregon will mourn when it is too late, over their present cry of vive la Ben. Holladay.

Telegraphic Summary.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The battle of Sedan commenced on the morning of Sept. 1st. The Prussians completely surrounded McMahon's army in Sedan. Napoleon was made a prisoner. McMahon's whole army of 100,000 men capitulated without condition. The Prussians had 240,000 men engaged or in reserve; the French, 120,000.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Paris telegrams report the utmost agitation and excitement there. The people are gloomy and depressed, as the last hope of the Napoleon dynasty has faded away. Trochu daily grows stronger in the confidence and sympathies of the people. The committee of defence is still working steadily for obstinate resistance, although the general opinion is that Paris will not suffer a siege.

Rumors are current that a republic will be proclaimed. Gen. Trochu is rumored as its probable President. A Sedan dispatch, via Bouillon, Sept. 2d, midnight, says: "The die is cast, so far as McMahon's fine army and the fortunes of the Empire are concerned. All is over with France. McMahon is seriously wounded. Roads are terrible. The French left everything, flying every direction, throwing away arms. The Prussians pressed resolutely forward, bent on cutting off the retreat toward Belgium. Prussians used the bayonet with dreadful effect. It is said the Emperor will be sent under strong escort to Magdeburg, but his final destination is a secret."

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Bazaine still maintains his position in Metz, notwithstanding the great strength of the army guarding that place, and preventing his escape. The total force now bearing arms in France, including the National Guards and the Garde Mobile, is seven hundred thousand men. Paliko and Cherveroux are in Belgium, having fled before the crisis pending the declaration of a Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Declarations have already reached Paris from foreign countries and several States of Europe, congratulating France on the successful and peaceful formation of a Republic. Republicans are already leaving Soudan in great numbers for France. Victor Hugo reached Paris last night.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The corps of Gen. Vorn reached Lalen on retrograde movement. The corps is intact and falling back in good order.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—England, in conjunction with France, as soon as a stable government is formed, intends to declare war on China, for satisfaction for late massacre of English and French citizens, demanding guarantees from the Emperor of China for security of their subjects in future.

The Prussians are advancing on Paris by forced marches.

An uprising is reported in Italy, as a great war is believed imminent.

The Prince Imperial reached London this morning.

Gen. McMahon lies dead in Belgium. LONDON, Sept. 5.—A special correspondent telegraphs from Bouillon, that the battle of Sedan and the capitulation of the French army leaving the road to Paris open, an advance in force has been made. On Saturday the Crown Prince was fifteen miles from St. Quetin, marching his army forward.

King William will demand that Nice and Savoy be restored to Italy, and that Italy and Rome be consolidated; Lorraine and Alsace be given to Bavaria and Baden, and Saxony, Wurtemberg and Hesse, to be indemnified for war expenses.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 5.—There are 14,000 French troops held as prisoners in Belgium.

STRETTGART, Sept. 5.—A large meeting of citizens was held in this city today, and resolutions adopted recommending that North and South Germany shall become a single Federal State, with one army, one Parliament and one system.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The Empress is expected to abdicate in favor of the nation. She will join the Prince Imperial in Belgium on Monday. Marshal McMahon was not wounded. Though greatly fatigued, he is in good health.

As continued health is vastly preferable to the happiest recovery from sickness, so is innocence superior to the truest repentance.

"There was a frog who lived in a spring. He caught such a cold that he could not sing. Poor, unfortunate, Batrachian! In what a plight he must have been. And yet his misfortune was one that often befalls singers. Many a once famous voice among those who belong to the 'genus hominid' is utterly spoiled by 'colds in the head,' or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above mentioned 'croaker' we are not aware that any remedy was ever devised but we rejoice to know that all human singers may keep their heads clear and their throats iture by a timely use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery both of which are sold by druggists."

Fatal to the Teeth.—Are all aerial preparations. They may bleach the enamel, but they surely dissolve and destroy it. The mild, genial balsamic and preservative Sodalent, impregnated with the Saponin of the famous tropical Soap Tree, of Chili, is the only absolutely safe article of its kind in the market and protects the Teeth from all destructive influences, as well as keeps them free from tartar.

The Question Settled.—Those eminent men, Dr. J. C. Clark, Physician to Queen Victoria, and Dr. Hughes Bennett, say that consumption can be cured. Dr. Wistar knew when he discovered his Balsam of Wild Cherry, and experience has proved the correctness of his opinion.

"Spaulding's Glue," handy and useful.

Let not Prejudice usurp your Reason.

It is a fact that, in the minds of many persons, a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent your resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSFETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS? Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judge, usually considered men of talent, have used and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason to the everlasting injury of your health. If you are sick, and require a medicine, try these Bitters.

When the bodily energies are worn out by anxiety and need a stimulant, this is the best that can be taken. It is tempered and modified by hygienic herbs and roots, which prevent it from fevering the blood; and hence it does not produce a mere temporary excitement, to be followed by injurious reaction, but communicates a permanent Potency to the entire vital organization. Some of its heral constituents are slightly soporific, so that in cases where sleeplessness is one of the accompaniments of nervous disease, a dose of it taken toward bedtime will tend to produce quiet and refreshing slumber. For palpitation of heart, tremors, hysterical fainting, general restlessness and the causeless fears and distressing fancies to which ladies are especially subject, under certain morbid conditions of mind and body peculiar to their sex, the Bitters will be found the most agreeable and certain of all counter-irritants.

The constitutionally nervous may readily keep their infirmity in constant check by the daily use of this healthful vegetable tonic; and those who have "shattered their nerves" as the phrase is, either by imprudent indulgence in undue physical or intellectual labor, will find in this vitalizing elixir a prompt restorative. 28-4w
